MODELS 1490 AND 1491

This combination unit is very popular with those who need both cash and record protection or those who need to keep an excessive amount of coin. The upper compartment of Model 1490 is a Class "F" Mercantile Safe for the protection of currency. Its door features a divider which provides space for considerable amounts of paper money. The lower compartment is similar to a record safe and may either be used for records, gold coin or a combination of both.

Model 1491 has an inner partition which forms a hold-up resistant compartment in the rear of the chest. At the top of the partition there is a slot through which excess coin may be deposited.
